Overall, less than half of eligible, at-risk patients under 65 years of age received a flu vaccine during the 2017/18 season

During the 2017/18 flu season half the eligible, at-risk patients under 65 years of age did not uptake their vaccination.

Within this season, there was the highest percentage of patients having flu like illnesses who hadn't had their vaccination. This then increases the flu like illnesses for those not at risk.

Please read overleaf for the changes to flu vaccinations this year.
